About Company

BrightReach International – Built in India, Trusted Worldwide

BrightReach International is a Gujarat-based company specializing in the manufacturing and export of electrical control panels, power distribution systems, and energy optimization solutions. With a deep-rooted foundation in India's rich electrical engineering sector, our mission is to export excellence — one panel at a time.

We focus on delivering durable, export-grade products like LT panels, APFC panels, MCC/PCC panels, servo voltage stabilizers, and custom-built control cabinets tailored to international standards. Our products are engineered to meet the specific power demands of clients across Africa and other growing markets.

Our team consists of experienced engineers, compliance professionals, and export logisticians who understand both the technical and operational challenges of international projects. We follow a customer-first philosophy — offering complete transparency, prompt communication, and technical support throughout the export cycle.

BrightReach is more than a supplier. We are a long-term strategic partner, focused on helping our clients power their growth. From government tenders to infrastructure projects, from hospitals to heavy industries — we supply power where it matters most.

Our name represents our mission:

“Bright” – for vision, innovation, and clean energy.

“Reach” – for our commitment to deliver across borders.

Welcome to BrightReach International — where your power needs meet our global promise.
